Description

Eurotranslate is full-service translation agency specialized in the Serbian language. Loyal to our shared roots, along with Serbian, we also specialize in all other Slavic and Eastern European languages. It goes without saying that we also work with all major world languages.

We have successfully completed thousands of translation projects to which our satisfied clients can attest. We have dedicated the highest level of attention to each of them, from the moment when the first contact is established up until the final delivery within the given deadline. Whether it was a new advertisement for reputable energy drink, localization of new software or translating the instruction manual for an infant incubator, we worked on each of these projects with the same dedication that has provided us with loyal and satisfied clients.
